

Creative Arts Workshops & School Projects from Tipperary Arts (TARTS)

Tipperary Arts

Dear Principal / School Coordinator

Creative Arts Workshops & Projects for Your School

Tipperary Arts (TARTS) is a new, non-profit arts collective based at 50 Main Street, in the heart of Tipperary Town.

Formed by six local creatives who met through Creative Places in Tipperary Town, TARTS was established to create a permanent arts space that supports, celebrates and develops creativity within our community.

Our collective brings together a diverse range of creative disciplines, including visual art, sculpture, writing, poetry, music and digital art. We support and mentor emerging creatives, provide opportunities for local people to showcase their talents, and strive to create a welcoming, non-judgemental environment where creativity can flourish.

We believe in:

- Collaboration, not competition.
- Free expression, not censorship.
- Support, not judgement.
- A vibrant arts scene benefits everyone.

We are particularly passionate about working with children and young people and developing creative opportunities that are engaging, inclusive and relevant to their interests and educational needs.

Bespoke Creative Experiences

We understand that every school and every group of pupils is different. Our workshops can therefore be developed around your school's curriculum, themes, celebrations, local heritage or particular creative interests.

Depending on the project, pupils may have opportunities to explore:

- Visual arts and mixed media
- Sculpture and 3D work
- Creative writing and poetry
- Digital and contemporary arts
- Collaborative art projects
- Community and place-based projects
- Cross-disciplinary creative activities

Our aim is not simply to deliver a workshop, but to create an inspiring and memorable experience that encourages children to experiment, express themselves and discover their own creative potential.

Our Mission

TARTS brings artists, makers and creative thinkers together in a cooperative community based on collaboration rather than competition.

Our Vision

We aim to nurture artistic expression and provide fair, sustainable opportunities and shared resources, enabling creative work to enrich culture, strengthen community and inspire positive change.

Working with schools is an important part of this vision. We want to develop lasting relationships with young people, educators and the wider community while helping to strengthen the arts infrastructure of Tipperary.

We believe in:

Let's Create Something Together

We would love to hear from schools who are interested in introducing more creativity into their classrooms or developing a larger arts project.

Through your feedback, we can create a bespoke service specifically for your school.

Whether you are looking for a one-hour creative experience, a full-day project or a programme running over several weeks, TARTS can work with you to develop an engaging and meaningful creative opportunity for your pupils.

We would be delighted to arrange a conversation with your school to discuss ideas, requirements and potential projects.

Thank you for supporting local arts and creativity. We hope your school will join us in helping to shape this new creative space for Tipperary Town.

Kind regards,

Marion Stern
